THE NORTH DAKOTA LOTTERY SCHEME.

It is a great pity that the new state of North Dakota should be disgraced by its senate which has passed a bill creating the North Dakota lottery company. The bill is either very seductive in its influence as a revenue measure to the state, or the members of the senate have lost all manhood by being bribed by those interested in the Louisiana lottery. The disgraceful bill among other things provides that the lottery company shall pay $100,000 a year for twenty-five years, to the state of North Dakota, and that as a further bait to the senators it offers to pay $10,000 to the fund which is being provided for the sufferers from the late drought.

What influence is behind this bill? It is the charter of the Louisiana lottery company expires in five years from now. The state which has been so long dishonored by the lottery scheme, will refuse to renew the charter. A little conscience has found its way into the public eye of the authorities of the state. They sorely feel the disgrace the state has suffered by aiding the lottery company, and public sentiment and the christian manhood and womanhood of the state loudly protest against the renewal of the charter. It is said there is no state in all the Union, not even in the iniquitous Mississippi, where the Louisiana lottery company can find a resting place, unless it be in North Dakota. The movers in the scheme are taking advantage of the empty treasury of the new state, and the suffering of some of its people by the partial failure of last year's crops, by making a tempting offer of money to secure the enactment of the lottery law. The dearest bargain the state of North Dakota can make, is to sell its honor for $100,000 a year. Such a sale would be as disgraceful as the convict law of Georgia, or the notorious election plan of Mississippi.

Is it possible that this bill can become a law? That is a question which is asked by the christian sentiment in all the states of the Union. It is said, that should the house concur in the senate bill, the governor will veto it, but on the other hand it is claimed that the money power of the lottery company has secured such a firm grasp on the legislature that the senate will pass the bill over the executive veto.

It would be well for the legislators of North Dakota, and all others interested in the honor and the welfare of that young state, to remember the warning words of their chief justice, "Save North Dakota from the stigma of being the tool of gamblers under the guise of a lottery. Poverty we can stand—infamy never."

There were three purposes in view in enacting the law. The first was to throw the expense of a general election on the state and municipalities, the theory being that as the election was for the public good, they should pay the bill. Under the new law the candidates no longer pay for ballots either straight or split.

The second object of the law was to secure what is properly called an educational ballot. The fact that the voter must mark by his own effort the names of the candidates he votes for, compels him to give at least a passing thought to the name he marks, even it is no more than to see that it has his party label. Under the old system, a great many voters had their ballots prepared by others—a sad reflection on the intelligence of the voter—but hereafter the voter must do his own voting, must do his own thinking, and select himself the men he desires to vote for.

The third object of the Australian ballot was to make it perfectly free to every voter, so that there could be no intimidation, no bribery, no pressure of any sort. It was hoped to abolish all corruption at the polls—all the disgraceful electioneering which so often surrounds our election precincts.

In Massachusetts the Australian system was given a fair trial last year. It worked well. Republicans and democrats gave it their most hearty endorsement. In a few days the Gazette will have more to say about the system, and will illustrate by a diagram the election booth, and will likewise print the simple rule that governs the voting.

Bill Nye and James Whitcomb Riley have parted company, and their literary partnership is a thing of the past. Nye says Riley was too convivial, and Riley is equally positive that Nye is too "cranky." This dissolution of their partnership was not entirely unexpected by their friends, who knew the relative estimate put upon each other's characteristics. The break-up, however, is a serious thing for their manager, who had them booked for a season extending quite into the coming summer. The loss to him will be very material, with the additional prospect of countless suits for damages likely to be instituted by lyceums and lecture committees, who will positively decline to understand why two men cannot always agree—New York Sun.

The almost persistent drunkenness of Mr. Riley is one of the many strange things that so often befall a man of genius. Mr. Riley is a poet of a national reputation. He has well deserved the honors he has won. He has written some very tender, beautiful lines, which have been so worthy that they have found their way into the best periodicals in the land. But he cannot break the

THE STORM AND FLOOD.

The Floods and Swollen Rivers in Far Off Oregon and Washington.

WIDESPREAD DESTRUCTION BY OVERFLOWING WATERS.

An Insane Girl Scalded to Death—Drowning of a Family—Railroad Accidents—Casualty Record.

ROSEBURG, Ore., Feb. 10.—The losses by the flood in this vicinity have been greater and more numerous than in the great flood of 1891-2. The damage to farms has been immense. Landslides have been numerous, and several important bridges have been carried away. Leaven's large floating mill at Canyonville has gone down, and the wooden mills at this place were damaged to the extent of $30,000. No trains have arrived from Portland since Jan. 3, and none are expected till the 10th instant. No lives have been lost, but mills are stopped all around up to date.

EUGENE, Ore., Feb. 10.—The damage by flood in Kansas county, is over $100,000. Trains will run between Eugene and Portland in a few days. Between Eugene and Ashland the delay will be greater because all the bridges and levations for miles around are in a shaly condition and many bends have been washed away. The roads will not be in a running condition for several weeks. There is no traffic on the Eastern.

HONORING SHERMAN.

"Old Tecumseh" Friends Congratulate Him on His 70th Birthday.

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—Gen. William T. Sherman was 70 years old Saturday. The grizzled old veteran, was compared to a star in a diamond ring, and the Central park, open or else lock his doors, for the people who called would not leave without seeing the old soldier as long as they had a chance of getting into the house.

Hundreds of his old friends called to congratulate the General, but they were by far the smaller number of his visitors. It was a grand, popular demonstration, and the old veteran was pleased beyond measure. He said that he did not think the people really cared so much for him until he found them coming to congratulate him.

Gen. Sherman enjoys the best of health, and he is remarkably strong and active. He works constantly in his library, performing an amount of labor that would in a short time crush the most energetic man of half his years. His daily exercise consists of a long walk every morning. He is sedate and happy. In looking over the roster of his old war associates he found they were all dead. Lincoln, Grant, Sheridan, McPherson, Logan, Thomas, Kilpatrick and Hancock, and he expressed deep regret that he could not meet them.

TUCSON, Ariz., Feb. 10.—The Society of Pioneers of Arizona have adopted resolutions, which have been forwarded to President Harrison, and which vigorously protest against the removal of the Apache Indians from Mount Vernon, Ariz., to Fort Sill, Indian Territory, and strongly indorse Gen. Miles for his action during his campaign against these Indians. The resolutions state that since the removal of the Apaches the industrial population of Arizona has almost doubled, and adds: "From our knowledge of these Indians we know they will, if sent to Indian Territory, reach their old homes in Arizona and re-enact their bloody career."

AN OPEN SWITCH.

A Brakeman's Mistake Causes a Bad Wreck.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Feb. 10.—An open switch causes a serious wreck on the Northern Central railway at Marsh's Run, near this city. Two sections of a freight train running ahead of the Pacific express, had orders to lie upon the siding until the express had passed. After the first section had run upon the siding, a brakeman supposing the second section would follow, left the switch open. The second section, however, ran in upon another switch. Before the mistake could be rectified the Pacific express rounded the curve and dashed into the locomotive of the second section. Both engines were demolished, and the track was blocked all day. Arthur Emerson, of Baltimore, fireman, of the express, was killed. Isaac Sterner, engineer of the passenger train, and Engineer Yagle, of the freight, were seriously injured, and Express Messengers McCahan and Pannall were badly hurt. Several others were cut and bruised. The negligent brakeman disappeared after the accident.

DEATH IN A RAILROAD DISASTER.

Two Persons Killed and Several Others Fatally Injured.

BALTIMORE, Md., Feb. 10.—A wreck is reported to have occurred on the Norfolk & Western road which resulted in the death of two persons and the serious injury of a number of others. The accident occurred at Middle Stone's mill about 11 o'clock. The cause of the accident was the spreading of the rails beneath the engine, which was thrown from the track and the express car was hurled a distance of seventy-five yards, and together with the mail car, was completely demolished. There were not many passengers on the train, and these, with one exception, escaped fatal injury. The Southern express messenger, George Kerr of Eastville, was killed, and the mail agent, A. B. Burton of Lynchburg, received fatal injuries. Conductor B. W. Beck of Bristol, Tenn., was seriously hurt, and baggage master Robert Adams of Lynchburg was badly bruised. A lady passenger, whose name and residence could not be obtained, was also badly hurt, and a little girl who accompanied her was killed.

FIRE IN A BATH-TUB.

A Girl Scalded to Death in an Ohio Home for Imbeciles.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Feb. 10.—A horrible accident occurred at the Home for the Imbeciles, near here, by which one of the inmates was scalded to death. Jennie Whitehead, a seventeen-year-old inmate from Hamilton, was sent with another patient to take a bath. She did not know how to get the water at the proper temperature, and Jennie was terribly scalded that convulsions set in and in a few hours the unfortunate girl was dead. Superintendent Doren says that it is a violation of the rules to allow inmates to bathe each other, but since so many of them have the grip it was necessary to do so. Miss Whitehead was a sister of Charles Whitehead, a prominent writer for the Cincinnati Commercial Gazette. The matter will no doubt be investigated by the Legislature.

that with which the spies were lowered, and once the spies were delivered, the spies were stretched across the window of our

escape, we may defy all bombardment,

earthly and satanic.

In the first place, carrying out the idea of my text, we must stretch the scarlet cord across the window of our rescue. There comes a time when a man is surrounded. What is that in the front door of his soul? It is the threatening of the future. What is in the back door of his soul? It is the sins of the past. He can not get out of either of these doorways.

If he attempts it he will be cut to pieces. What shall he do? Escape through the window of God's mercy.

But, you say, the window is so high.

Ah, there is a rope, the very one with which the cross and its victim is lifted.

That was strong enough to hold Christ

and it is strong enough to hold you.

Here you are, you are here, you are your hopes for this life, all your hopes for the life that is to come. Escape

now through the window. "But" you say, "that cord is too small to save

me; that salvation will never do at all for such a sinner as I have been."

Do you notice what a very narrow escape those spies had? I suppose they came with flustered cheeks and with excited hearts. They were in a very narrow escape. They went in the broad door of sin; but how did they come out? They came out of the window. They went up the stairs of stone; they came down on a slender thread. And so my friends we go easily and unashamedly into sin, and all the doors are open; but if we get out at all it will be by being let down

over precipices, writing a helpless, the strong grip above keeping

from being dashed on the rocks be-
